

The soundscape of Dada Divas uses audio samples and field recordings created or collected from many sources during several years. Some of the sources are obscure or long forgotten. In most cases, the original samples are edited or processed, often to the point of being unrecognizable. Moreover, since some pieces in Dada Divas involve sounds that are played randomly from one performance to another, it is impractical to predict whether a given sample will appear in a given rendition. Nonetheless, in an effort to credit sources, below is an attribution list of all samples downloaded from www.freesound.org during the sound design of Dada Divas. Note that this list includes dozens of samples that were auditioned but ultimately not used, as well as others that might be used in future versions of the piece.
